This year Mary Ann and I will spend a month there from February 24 to March 25. Since retirement from book publishing I picked up "watercolor painting". I have had a number of exhibitions and I will have one from March 1 to April 30, 2017 at the "HOTEL on NORTH" in Pittsfield, MA where I will have 21 paintings on display. I have a website if anyone wants to see any of my work at <http://brunoaquinson.com/>."

● Claude (Sadoc) Servan-Schreiber (LSY : 2nde in 1953) « a été journaliste à L'Express, l'Expansion, Lire. Née Sadoc, elle porte le nom de son ex-mari, le journaliste et patron de presse Jean-Louis Servan-Schreiber . Ils se sont mariés en 1957 et sont parents de quatre enfants dont Florence Servan-Schreiber (1964), journaliste et écrivain, et grands-parents de 8 petits-enfants. Claude a dirigé la rédaction de F Maga-zine, créée en 1978, destiné à un public féministe, qui s'est arrêté en 1982. Elle est co-auteur du livre qui a contribué à lancer en 1992 le Mouvement pour la parité dans la vie publique en France : Au pouvoir citoyennes ! Liberté, égalité, parité. Pour 43 ans d'activités professionnelles et associatives, elle avait été élevée en 2001 au grade de chevalier de la Légion d'honneur par le Premier ministre socialiste, Lionel Jospin. En 2013, elle s'est mariée à la mairie de Paris avec sa compagne Françoise Gaspard (1945), sociologue féministe et femme politique. Elles ont été pacées depuis 2000. » (<http://www.babelio.com/auteur/Claude-Servan-Schreiber/39671>)

● « Gala (jeudi 8 août 2013): Françoise Gaspard et Claude (Sadoc) Servan-Schreiber (LSY: 2nde in 1953): le mariage n'a pas d'âge.

Les deux célèbres grands-mères se sont mariées à Paris fin juillet. Ce sont leurs huit petits-enfants qui l'ont annoncé dans les carnets du Monde. Françoise Gaspard, 68 ans, et Claude Servan-Schreiber se sont dit oui à Paris, le 30 juillet dernier, après avoir été pacsées pendant 13 ans.....à la mairie de Paris devant l'adjoint au maire et porte-parole d'Anne Hidalgo (candidate à la mairie de Paris).....Mais qui sont-elles? D'accord, nous vous donnons quelques indices. La première est une grande figure de la lutte féministe. Toujours pas? Elle milite aussi pour les droits homosexuels. C'est Françoise Gaspard, ancienne maire de Dreux, avec le Partis socialiste. Aujourd'hui, loin des fonctions politiques qu'elle avait occupées avant, Françoise Gaspard fait de la recherche à l'École des hautes études en sciences sociales. La deuxième est journaliste, ex-femme d'un grand patron de presse appelé Jean-Louis, née Sadoc, et porte toujours le nom de son ex-mari. Une idée? Il s'agit de Claude [Sadoc] Servan-Schreiber, journaliste et co-fondatrice de Parité-infos avec sa future femme, Françoise Gaspard. Claude a dirigé la rédaction de F Magazine, crée en 1978, destiné à un public féministe, mais qui s'est arrêté en 1982..... »

● Hubert Leven (LSY: 3eme in 1952) "is President of the Rashi Foundation, one of the largest private foundations operating in Israel. Focusing on "venture philanthropy," the Rashi Foundation establishes programs and creates the infrastructures needed to reduce educational gaps, promote young leadership, and find solutions for children and youth at risk. The Rashi Foundation is a Founder of the Bar-Ilan University Faculty of Medicine in the Galilee. Head of the Rashi Foundation since its establishment in 1984, Leven also serves as Vice-President of Alliance Israelite Universelle (AIU) in Paris, a charitable organization established a hundred and fifty years ago by his great-grandfather in order to provide educational opportunities and aid for Sephardic Jews in the Middle East. Leven also serves as Executive Vice-President of KIAH (Kol Israel Haverim) in Israel, and is Director of both the Israel Center for Civil Society and the Jewish Funders Network in New York. Born in Paris in 1938, Leven escaped to Switzerland together with his mother and sister, while his father served in the French resistance. After the war, Leven attended high school in both Paris and New York and completed a degree in physics at Middlebury College. After joining his father's brokerage firm in Paris, Leven raised funds for the French United Jewish Appeal and took on a leading role in the AIU. In the mid-80s, he left Leven S.A. – where he was then CEO – to join the executive Committee of the Perrier Group, the mineral water company run by his uncle Gustave Leven, the Rashi Foundation's founder. He later returned to the brokerage firm, directing its operations until 2000.

Today, Leven lives in Geneva, Switzerland. A father of four and grandfather of eight, he devotes most of his time to running the Rashi Foundation, traveling frequently to raise funds for its various projects, and bringing a message of Jewish unity wherever he goes. 'It is only natural for those who benefitted from the Alliance's activities two or three generations ago to support the same organization, which is still fighting to save those who are at the bottom of the socio-educational ladder,' he says." - Bruno Quinson wrote: "I have stayed in touch with my classmate Georges de Gramont ('55) who left the Lycée after 3e. We have lunch in NYC once every 2 months. He lives in Cliffside Park, NJ. Over the years I have communicated with Anne Segalen and Georges Ripka who were also my classmates, class of '55. They both live in Paris.

After retiring from book publishing I started painting in watercolor. I have had a few exhibitions and my work can be seen on my website www.brunoquinson.com. (Click here to access Bruno's website.) My wife and I live in NYC and Pittsfield, MA. My wife has been the President of the Barrington Stage Company for 20 years. I mention it here because the hit musical ON THE TOWN which just opened on Broadway to great acclaim was first produced by BSC in 2013. The NY cast and the production are the same as in Pittsfield. It's a terrific show which I recommend."

- Georges De Gramont wrote: "I was at the Lycée for four years ('48-'52). I enjoyed it, especially my fellow students. Illustrious individuals like "Le Baron" Jean Kaiser and Bruno Quinson. In '52 I went to boarding school at Portsmouth Abbey, a Benedictine monk school. I now consider myself an alum' of that school."

- From Bruno A. Quinson's website: "In 1996, after 36 years in book publishing I retired from the business and decided I wanted to be involved directly in the arts. Not just serve on some boards as a trustee, but actually physically participate in the arts. During the summer of 1996 I signed up for a charcoal drawing course at the Interlaken School of Art, now known as IS183, located just outside of Stockbridge, MA.....For the summer I have built a studio in my home in the Berkshires where I try to go work at least 5 days a week for approximately 3 hours at a time. Painting just puts me into another world....."

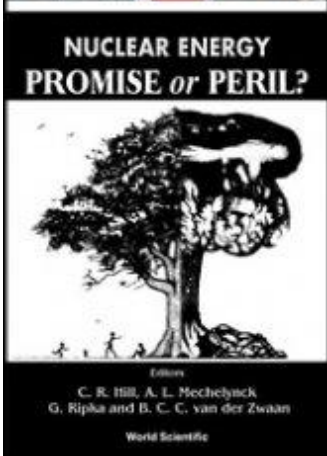

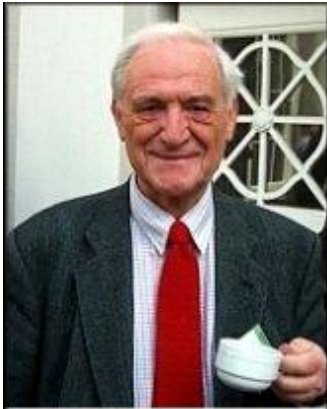

I sign my paintings "Grand-Pere Quinson" to remind my grandchildren and great grandchildren when they do come along of my French heritage.

My book publishing career began at Simon & Schuster in 1960 after I graduated from Williams College and served in the U.S. Marine Corps. After 5 years I went to Golden Books for another 5 years and then became President of Larousse & Co., a subsidiary of Librairie Larousse in Paris, France. I stayed 12 years then moved to Macmillan Publishing as President of its General Books and Reference Division. In 1988 I became CEO, Publisher and President of Henry Holt & Co a subsidiary of the Holtzbrinck Publishing empire out of Stuttgart, Germany from which I retired in 1996.

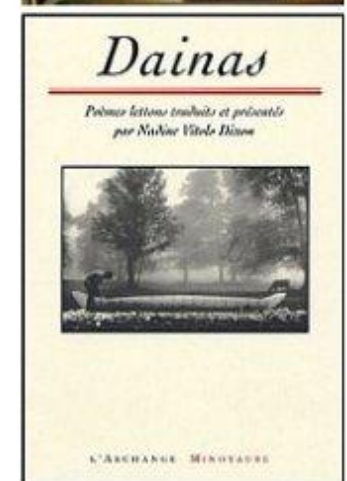

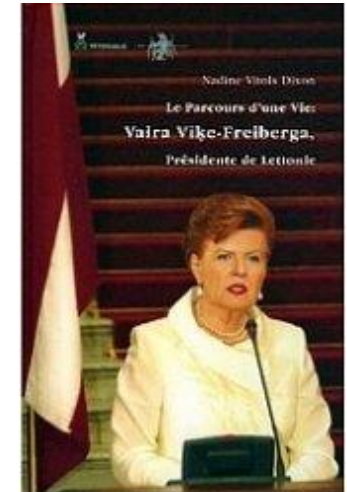

Today I serve as a Trustee of the Museum of the City of New York, the Leopold Schepp Foundation, Graywolf Publishing. I have also served on a number of other boards, among them, the Eudora Welty Foundation, Manhattan Theater Club, the Robert Frost Place and the Lycee Francais de New York to name just a few."
